GHOST SHIP

Director : Achira Nokthet (Former Name : Phontharis Chotkijsadarsopon) (Still 2)

Genre : Horror

Production Year : 2015

Status : Pre-Production

At a dark pier in the middle of the night, a boat captain and his mate, Nong, are readying their vessel for the next trip. But what they discover is a shocking: the lifeless body of Mia, the wife of the boat's owner, is hanged from a mast in a gruesome fashion. The corpse also sets off panic among other sailors.

The captain orders everyone to calm down. He decides that he has to get rid of the body, and comes up with a plan to throw Mia's body in the middle of the sea.

But it's not that simple. Once the ship sets sail, the body hidden in the engine room disappears. Mia's spirit is set loose and wreaking havoc on the boat in the middle of the sea. The ghost terrorizes the sailors, who can't escape anywhere except into the water that surrounds them. Things get worse when a storm hits. The only way to save the boat and everyone on it is to locate Mia's body.

But there's more serious question that no one remembers to ask: Who murdered Mia?

A story of a great French teacher who devotes himself to Siam...

The movie portrayed the biography of Reverend Brother Hilaire (Jason Young) through a present day character, Pongsatom (Phrunyoo Rojanawuttitham)

Living an average life of a typical Primary School teacher of a well known Catholic School in a province of Thailand, Pongsatom has been teaching Thai language classes for almost 5 years. In order to get a pay rise, he decided to continue his education in the Master Degree level, majoring in Literature. His thesis was the ultimate key to success in achieving his goal, when the name 'F. Hilaire' popped up in his mind. F. Hilaire was a name of a westemer, Fronçois Touvenet Hilaire, a young Reverend Brother who arrived in Siam some 100 years ago.

F.Hilaire sat down to learn Thai with his Thai students, and he didn't only develop the skill to read and speak Thai, but mastered the language to the point that he could write a Thai language textbook, called "Darunsuksa".

"Darunsuksa" is still used in schools a century later. Even Pongsatom has also used these text books for teaching his students.

Soon after having learnt more about F. Hilaire's life in depth, the way Pongsatom sees the world will change forever..

TON and JACK are high-school pranksters who become an online sensation for making "dare-the-ghost" video clips. They would visit haunted or sacred places and challenge the invisible forces to come out and face them. The more they become famous, the more they feel confident to cross the line they shouldn't have crossed.

For their new clip, TON brings his younger brother TOR to a graveyard. Once there, Jack handcuffs TON and his brother together. TON and Tor arrive at a grave that has just been dug. They see a fresh corpse lying in there, with a gold coin in his mouth (in the Thai belief, relatives put coins in the dead's mouth for the afterlife). TON and Tor climb down and TON secretly take the coin from the corpse. After, they're pursued by something they can't see.

The real horror is about to begin...
