BARRY ALEXANDER BROWN

AFI World Peace Initiative

The Embrace Lifetime Achievement Award

Barry Alexander Brown is a British/American filmmaker who grew up in the Deep South and attended high school in the same town where the real story of Son of the South took place only a handful of years earlier – Montgomery, Alabama.

As a young director, he was nominated for an Academy Award for his first film, a feature length documentary about the rise of the anti-Vietnam War Movement titled The War At Home, which was re-released last year to provide an unexpected road map to grassroots organizing and movement-building in the age of Parkland, George Floyd and #BlackLivesMatter.

Not long after, he met then-unknown filmmaker @officialspikelee and began a decades-long association with the iconic director – editing such classic films as Do The Right Thing, Malcolm X, Crooklyn, He Got Game, 25th Hour and Inside Man. In 2018, BlackKkklansman crowned their lifelong friendship with a Grand Jury Prize in Cannes Film Festival and five Oscar nominations including Best Picture and Best editing for Barry. They would take home the Best Adapted Screenplay for Spike.

A virtuoso editor, this came after nearly 50 films made with what we could call the royals of the New York Independent Cinema scene, from Salaam Bombay (1988) or Queen of Katwe (2016) with Mira Nair, to Detachment (2011) with Tony Kaye, or The Giver (2014) with Philip Noyce.

After directing A Wish to Live, a feature-length documentary following Avishai's inspiring journey as the tenacious and extraordinary survivor of a very rare illness, Barry is preparing for his next feature as a director, a thriller called The Provider, in Malta.

LUCIA KAISER

AFI World Peace Initiative
Golden Jubilee & Lifetime
Achievement Award

Lucia Kaiser is a two-time Emmy Award-winning Producer, Philanthropist, and Speaker. Her career in the entertainment industry began at the age of 19, when she became the first female Talent Booker for the Johnny Carson Show. After a successful career working for NBC, Lucia went on to establish the first all-women Advertising Agency in New York City entitled Venus. Her exciting career on Madison Avenue exposed Lucia to professionals from all walks of life. She was soon offered the position to become the President of Studio Film Exchange, an organization that purchases and markets award-winning documentary films.

Amid her flourishing film career in New York City, while on a leisurely trip in Hong Kong, Lucia was persuaded by the martial arts legend Bruce Lee to run his film company. After much deliberation, Lucia left New York City, to serve as the only female President of Bruce Lee's film company in Hong Kong. She successfully oversaw the production and distribution of some of Lee's most famous films, including negotiating a distribution deal with Warner Brothers for the worldwide box office hit "Enter The Dragon."

During a trip across Europe, Lucia met her husband, and together they moved from Germany to the islands of Hawaii. Shortly after her arrival, Lucia dove right back into show biz, working on various productions for NBC and CBS. However, Lucia's career reached new heights when she accepted a position as the only female General Manager at Hawaii's KGU Radio. Among many notable productions, Lucia aggressively worked feverishly to secure the first-ever live remote broadcast of the Larry King Show in Honolulu, Hawaii. It turned out to be the highest rated "live" remote of the Larry King Show in the U.S. and Canada.

Coming from humble beginnings, Lucia has always had a passion for giving back. While tirelessly producing radio shows, she actively organized fundraisers for organizations such as Partnership for the Homeless, Hawaii Symphony, Girl Scouts of America, and Hawaii Theatre.

Lucia decided to engage Mikhail Baryshnikov to come give a one-time special performance in Hawaii, and from it, she reached her goal to raise enough funds to finance a ballet school for the children of Hawaii. As a result of her fundraising efforts, Lucia became the Democratic Chairperson during both terms of President Bill Clinton's administration.

In addition to her endeavors in the entertainment industry, Lucia has been a keynote speaker at notable venues including the United Nations. She was asked to speak on film financing at the Venice Film Festival. In addition, Lucia was a motivational speaker. Lucia continues to engage in the socio-political landscape of our times. Most notably with Destiny Rescue, which is a non-profit organization devoted to saving young children from sex trafficking all over the world, including in Cambodia, Thailand, and the Dominican Republic. She continues to champion the cause of fighting sex trafficking.

Over the most recent years, Lucia has been a member of New York Theatre Works, which provides many young and upcoming writers, directors, producers, and actors with the opportunity to get their work exposed to top professionals in the entertainment industry.

The feature film Lucia is presently producing is "Vincent". She is so honored and thrilled to announce that her dear friend for many years, Barry Navidi (Al Pacino's producing partner) will also be a Producer. In addition, Bonnie Timmerman will be Casting and Co-Producing. They will be talking to Directors in September, with a finished script.

"The Dark Side of the American Dream"

With impossible odds against him Vincent Vinci journeys into the twisted and seductive world of undertaker John Harvey. Unable to fulfill his desire to live a better life, he moves on to the illusive New York art scene. Seduced by what appears to be a luxurious, yet lethal lifestyle, he finds himself caught in a cobweb of corruption that leads to his downfall.

This film is set in rarified worlds, centering around a character whose flaws and longings belong to us all.

The movie is inspired by true events and the book "Framed" written by Tod Volpe of his journey from humble beginnings through the funeral business, the art world, Hollywood, and prison.

Lucia's illustrious career is only matched with her daring and fun nature. She loves to dance - Salsa to be specific. She is a lover of music and musicians and was once a professional surfer and champion of slalom water skiing. She has raced motorcycles, while living in Bangkok, and has over 33 escape jumps in the unbelievably fascinating book of her life which is presently being written. She has lived in Europe, Australia, Egypt, South America, Thailand, Hong Kong, New York City, and of course, Hawaii. Lucia became renowned for throwing lavish parties attended by the Hollywood elite. This included two parties that she and her husband Steffan threw for Tina Turner when she came to perform her first and only concert in Honolulu. Robin Leach, of the television show "Lifestyles of the Rich and Famous" covered both parties and proclaimed Lucia had thrown the party of the year worldwide.

Lucia has received several awards for her philanthropic efforts and some include:

Priska Medam is a Swiss artist and gallery owner.

Her artistic training took place in 1999 with the painter Sigi Binda in Basel and Riehen and with Willi Freund from the Basel vocational school in Rosenau. She then completed a distance learning course at the Neue Kunstschule Zürich, specializing in drawing and painting.

As a Basel artist, she has been running the "Galerie zum Harnisch" in Allschwil near Basel since 2009 and sees herself as a maker of the art scene. She has organized her own exhibition events since 2011 and has been participating in regional, national and international art events since 2009.

In 2013 and 2014 she exhibited at the "Artisan Festival International: World Peace Initiative" founded by Princess Angelique Monét in Cannes, which is being held at the same time as the film festival, and in 2013 she was also in Cannes with her own works in the Résidence Supérieur by Richard Nilsson represented at the "World Peace Night" of the Jackson Foundation and in 2021 was named "Royal artist from Her Royal Highness Princess Angelique" Ademiposi "Monét".

She succeeded in creating a virtual moon gallery in Monte-Carlo and making the leap to Asia in 2019 and she is represented by a renowned gallery in Tokyo, where she is still represented today.

Playful and nested, expressive, outstanding. This is how the new style of Priska Medam presents itself, which is self-confidently reflected as dynamic, cheeky art. Soothing nuances with glass transparency and effects give these works space for an inspiring world of thoughts and feelings. Colors, dynamic shapes, inspiring harmonies and vibrations have the power to give life energy. These works of colourfulness guarantee an experience for the viewer.

The pictures with the new art style since 2017 are unique. Editions are numbered and all works are hand-signed and provided with a certificate of authenticity. The collages are digitally created in a complex technical process and hand-painted - using 3D effect painting with paints to create works of art with exclusivity.

Dreams for rooms. Pictures with radiance and eye-catching give energy and well-being.

In 2019 she won a PALM ART AWARD KUNSTPREIS (Certificate of Excellence) for her glass pictures and in 2020 was included in WikiArticon, the free encyclopedia for contemporary artists based directly on Wikipedia, as well as nominated for another Palm Art Award 2020 and won the ART FOR HOPE AWARD 2020. In 2021, the third nomination for the coveted Palm Art Awards took place.

In July 2021, Priska Medam received the highest awards during the program from the organization New Generation In Action at the Cannes Film Festival (2021) online and in person for "Contribution to fine arts and humanitarian aid".

A big highlight for her is her inclusion in the Who's Who in Visual Art issue: 100 Top Final of Our Day. 2020, which was published in the 3rd quarter of 2020 by Art Domain Whois Verlag, Ulrich Goette Himmelblau, in Germany and the inclusion in the edition: HIMMELBLAU Art Compass, which will be published in the 4th quarter of 2021.
