Change is upon us, and in 2022, we remain committed to contributing to this transformation.

In December 2021, on the occasion of the Dubai Expo, we brought awareness about persons with disabilities and the effort many put in service, including the global philanthropic organization Dubai Cares.

In 2022, we have decided to focus on the preservation of our health and our planet.

In March, still within the context of the Dubai Expo 2020 and the United Nations we focused on the conservation of the oceans and the blue economy.

During the Cannes Film Festival in May, we spoke about food, health, and sustainability issues.

Upcoming in September, during “The International Venice Film Festival, La Mostra”, we are highlighting Food, Health & Sustainability, then in Jeddah, during the Red Sea International Film Festival, we will be speaking about biodiversity and the coral reefs.

DAVID LYNCH FOUNDATION

The Better World Fund supports the David Lynch Foundation.

ABOUT THE DAVID LYNCH FOUNDATION

The David Lynch Foundation was founded in 2005 to prevent and eradicate the all-pervasive epidemic of trauma and toxic stress among at-risk populations through promoting widespread implementation of the evidence-based Transcendental Meditation® (TM®) program in order to improve their health, cognitive capabilities and performance in life. At-risk populations suffer from epidemic levels of chronic stress and stress-related disorders—fueling violence, crime and soaring health costs, and compromising the effectiveness of education, health, rehabilitation and vocational programs now in place.

Since opening its doors in 2005, the David Lynch Foundation, a 501(c)(3) organization, has helped to bring the stress-reducing TM technique to more than 500,000 children and adults around the world. We focus our efforts on underserved inner-city students, veterans with posttraumatic stress (PTS) and their families and women and children who are survivors of violence and abuse.

PROGRAMMATIC HIGHLIGHTS

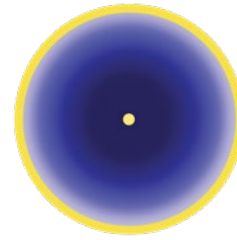

MEDITATE AMERICA

Meditate America is a national initiative that was launched on December 3, 2020, to bring the evidence-based Transcendental Meditation technique to everyone in the country who is at-risk and vulnerable to stress and trauma, in the same way that approved medicines are available to people. The first phase of the initiative is to conduct large-scale, randomized controlled trials on the benefits of the technique for healing trauma; reducing high blood pressure and risk of heart disease and stroke; and reducing anxiety and depression. Outcomes from the trials will be used to qualify TM as a medical intervention covered by private and public insurance companies. Once the technique has been approved for reimbursement, then anyone who suffers from stress and stress-related disorders will be able to learn TM at no cost to the individual. In this way, as many as 300 million people will be able to meditate, a development that will transform the health of the people and the entire nation. Here are three David Lynch Foundation projects already underway to support Americans in need.

HEAL THE HEALERS NOW

Even before the Covid-19 pandemic, a Harvard report called physician burnout “a public health crisis that urgently demands action” with several surveys putting the rate of provider burnout as high as 70 percent. The American Academy of Family Physicians linked burnout to higher rates of medical errors, substance abuse and addiction, and suicide among physicians.

Today, the situation is far worse, and demands well-documented, innovative approaches to address this crisis. “Heal the Healers Now” is a national initiative to bring the stress-reducing Transcendental Meditation® technique to healthcare workers in public hospitals who are battling the coronavirus pandemic.

VETERANS: 21 TO NO ZONE

Tragically, at least 21 vets take their own lives every day. This national horror is compounded by the fact that such acts cause lifelong harm to family members and co-workers—and directly challenge the military’s ethos that “No one is left behind.” Clearly these patriots who choose to release their pain through suicide rather than confront it have been “left behind.” 21 TO NONE® is addressing the terrible epidemic of high suicide rates among veterans by delivering Transcendental Meditation to those in need through VA healthcare systems, military bases and military universities, and veteran service organizations.

HEALTHY FAMILY / HEALTHY COMMUNITY

Early-age trauma scars the brain and fuels poor academic performance, sickness, substance use disorder, and violent behavior. At the basis of any community-wide initiative to interrupt violence and build strong neighborhoods must be an effective program for healing the traumatized brain, particularly among the young. The David Lynch Foundation’s Healthy Family/ Healthy Community national initiative partners with local government and civic organizations to bring TM® at no cost to under-resourced adults and children to reduce stress, improve cognitive and brain functioning, and prevent crime and violence.

Dr. Tony Nader Conference

Tony Nader, MD, PhD, is a medical doctor trained at Harvard University and Massachusetts Institute of Technology (PhD in neuroscience) and globally recognized expert in the science of consciousness and human development. His training includes internal medicine, psychiatry, and neurology. He's the successor to Maharishi Mahesh Yogi and the head of the Transcendental Meditation organizations globally. He was assistant director of clinical research at MIT, and a clinical and research fellow at Massachusetts General Hospital, Harvard Medical School. He conducted research in neurochemistry and neuroendocrinology; the relationship between diet, age, behavior, mood, seasonal influences, and hormonal activity; and the role of neurotransmitter precursors in medicine. Dr. Nader has discussed his expertise at academic and governmental institutions such as Stanford University, where he taught a course entitled "Hacking Consciousness", at Harvard Business School on The Neuroscience of Transcendence, and as the keynote speaker for a conference at the House of Commons, British Parliament where the unique expertise in the knowledge of East and West has been recognized by the National Health Service. His research has been published in Neurology, Journal of Clinical Endocrinology and Metabolism, Journal of Gerontology, Progress in Brain Research, the International Journal of Mathematics and Consciousness, and other journals. In his recent book, One Unbounded Ocean of Consciousness (Penguin Random House, 2021), Dr. Nader comprehensively examines the nature of relative and ultimate reality and what scientists call the "hard" problem of what is consciousness? He unpacks these abstract topics for both a general audience and experts addressing life's big questions and offering practical solutions from the field of consciousness to the challenges facing the world. He investigates consciousness in terms of human physiology, quantum mechanics in physics, and the more ancient Vedic science, uncovering the unity underlying ontology, epistemology, and ethics. With his work, his podcast, "Consciousness Is All There Is", his books, and discussions with a broad array of top leaders and thinkers in nearly every field, Dr. Nader is bringing the science of consciousness to new audiences and expanding the understanding of the relationship between mind and body, consciousness and physiology, and the possibility to development full human potential.
